Since the advent of the “recycling law,” the Municipal Waste, Planning, Recycling and Waste Reduction Act (Act 101) that was enacted in 1988, we have attained a recycling rate in Bucks County of about 35 percent. The legislation addresses the residential recycling of paper, food and beverage containers (glass, aluminum, steel and plastic) and many materials generated in commercial establishments. However, there are still many products and materials that can be reused and recycled that are not addressed by the legislation.

The Bucks County Recycling Guide was first published in 1997 during a time when recycling efforts had attained great success. Curbside recycling programs were in place and the amount of material being discarded into the municipal waste stream was significantly reduced. As a result, many people were searching for ways to divert even more material from the waste stream that were not typically part of the curbside programs. In response to these inquiries, this guide was developed to provide suggestions that would aid in the reuse and recycling of many products and materials. These materials typically require the ‘owners’ to take it upon themselves to locate a facility or program that will accept such items for reuse or recycling. This guide was designed to assist them in doing that.

This update to the Bucks County Recycling Guide seeks to include new information on where many products and materials may be taken for reuse or recycling. Whether measuring by the number of units or total weight, one waste category in particular has increased at a greater rate than any other --- electronics. Old computers and their peripherals, televisions, and cell phones are being disposed of at an alarming rate. The National Safety Council estimated that at the end of 2007, Americans will have discarded as many as 500 million computers. Due to the hazardous components in many electronics, most notable being lead, old computers and portable televisions should also be recycled responsibly.

Many household materials are considered hazardous and are no longer permitted to be disposed in the local landfill. Therefore, individuals who chose to purchase these materials need to accept some of the responsibility for their proper disposal. Whether it is that next computer, cell phone, or a non-recyclable helium tank to fill a bouquet of party balloons, the ultimate disposal of that product should be considered prior to its purchase. We cannot expect that “they” will provide a ready means of disposal for a product just because its owner is ready to dispose of it. There may not always be a readily available facility to accept our particular waste.
The Bucks County Recycling Guide is designed to provide information and ideas on how and where to properly recycle, or dispose of, if appropriate, a variety of materials typically generated from residences that, at the very least, are reusable or recyclable, but may also have potentially harmful impacts on the environment if they are simply thrown into the regular trash.

Included in the guide is information about:

- what to do with old motor oil and antifreeze
- what to do with old tires
- what is the best way to handle “sharps” (syringes) produced in the home?
- what should I do with my old computer?
- should I recycle all household batteries?
- how to properly dispose of old appliances
- what to do with a variety of other hard to recycle items

It is not expected that this guide will provide the answer for every possible material that is destined to be disposed of in residential trash. But it will help in providing some direction on how to handle many of these products and materials.

The information will provide you with some specific ways to recycle materials that may have been considered non-recyclable as well as cause the reader to reevaluate their current buying habits. A review of this guide will also show that some items, due to their hazardous characteristics, need to be stored until the next household hazardous waste collection program. Which only serves to emphasize the need to buy only as much product as you need for the job at hand.

The guide is set up alphabetically by type of disposal item category. It must be noted that regulations and specific vendors may change periodically so it is always best to call or utilize the internet to verify that a specific vendor or facility is still accepting items and if a fee is applicable.

After you have had an opportunity to use the guide, if you have any questions, suggestions and/or comments for future updates of this booklet, we would like to hear from you.

AEROSOL CANS

Empty

- Many curbside programs will accept empty aerosol cans with the commingled recyclables. Contact your hauler or municipality for details.
- If not recyclable – dispose of in regular trash.

Not empty

- Use up according to label instructions, and, if applicable, dispose of can as above.
- Donate to a local school or theater organization, if contents are usable paint, see Appendix G.
- See “Household Hazardous Waste” or Appendix A.

AMMUNITION/EXPLOSIVES

Notice: For suggestions on how to safely dispose of small caliber ammunition call your local police department or check Yellow Pages directory under—“Guns & Gunsmiths.” Some gun shops will accept small caliber ammunition. Call first to determine if they will accept your materials before handling or transporting.

Small Caliber

Large caliber ordnance, "black powder" or other munitions — Call 911.

ANIMAL WASTE

Dog or Cat Waste

- Place in sealed container or plastic bag and dispose of in regular trash collection.
- Do not place in backyard compost pile.
Manure

APPLIANCES (WHICH NORMALLY CONTAIN FREON)

Notice: When purchasing a new appliance, be sure to ask if they will take it when it comes time to be replaced and if they will take the appliance you are currently replacing. If appliances work, see Appendix B or see Yellow Pages “Social Service Organizations” to donate.

Refrigerators and Freezers

Appliances that contain or once contained Freon are handled separately from regular trash.

- Contact your trash hauler to obtain information on the cost and procedure for collection.
- Contact PECO or your local electric utility. They may have a recycling program for refrigerators and air conditioners. Programs open to current customers only.

Additional guides and suggestions of how or where to recycle items:

For information on how to reduce the amount of waste material you generate contact:

- Use Less Stuff—www.use-less-stuff.com (303) 482-1745.

“I’m moving and I can’t take this stuff with me.”

- There is no site or facility in Bucks County where a resident can take products such as poisons (insecticides, herbicides), solvents (gasoline, kerosene, paint thinner), oil-based paint, etc. for proper disposal. The company at the scheduled Household Hazardous Waste (HHW) Collection days are regulated such that they are not permitted to accept material transported to their facility by the public. It is suggested that someone who has HHW, and must get rid of it now, find a friend or relative who is willing to accept the material for the purpose of using it or storing it until a future collection event.

PROPANE TANKS

20 lb. (BBQ grill)

- Other sites not listed below may accept old propane tanks. Contact any supermarket, home store or other locations where propane tanks are sold or accepted for exchange. Typically a higher fee was charged for the first tank purchased and a lower fee each time the tank is exchanged. Although the companies avoid calling the higher fee a deposit, that fee was intended to cover the recycling cost of the tank when not being exchanged.
- Blue Rhino—www.bluerhino.com (800) 258-7466.
- See “Household Hazardous Waste” or Appendix A.

Small “Disposable” tank (“Coleman”) or Propane torch (“Bernz-a-matic”)

HOUSEHOLD HAZARDOUS WASTE COLLECTION PROGRAM

Why bring your household hazardous wastes to a scheduled event?

There is no dedicated drop off facility in Bucks County that accepts Household Hazardous Waste (HHW). If you cannot attend a county collection event, please consider asking a friend or neighbor to take the items to the event for proper disposal. HHW events will be held at different locations throughout the county on specified days from Spring to Fall.

This program is a community service to the residents of the four Southeastern Pennsylvania County Region (Bucks, Chester, Delaware, Montgomery, and Philadelphia counties) only and is not open to businesses, institutions, or industry. The counties of Bucks, Delaware, Chester, Montgomery and the City of Philadelphia continue to partner together to host approximately 30 HHW events every year. The regional partnership allows residents of each county the opportunity to attend any of the events hosted in the region. It also allows the five-county region to acquire the best possible price per pound, which in turn, saves valuable taxpayer dollars. In 2010, this regional partnership collected close to 3 million pounds of HHW, of which Montgomery County accounted for about 1 million of that total alone.

Household products containing toxic chemicals, like pesticides, oil-based paints, solvents, cleaning products, weed killers and automotive batteries can be a threat to people and the environment if improperly discarded. Never throw these materials into the trash, as the toxic chemicals may harm sanitation workers, or result in fires in collection vehicles. It is also not safe to pour them into a sink or storm drain as they can end up in the environment polluting the air, water, or soil.

For an updated schedule of collection events please visit our website at www.buckscounty.org/recycling or call the Bucks County Planning Commission at (215) 345-3400.

Electronics are not accepted at these events. This includes TVs, computers, cell phones and other corded devices.
For more information visit the Bucks County website at: www.buckscounty.org/recycling

What can you bring?

Up to 25 gallons or 220 pounds of hazardous products. Keep in mind hazardous products will have cautionary words on the label, for example: Danger, Warning, or Caution. Other words or phrases that can signal hazardous products include: poisonous, hazardous, combustible, flammable, corrosive, volatile, caustic, irritant, explosive, toxic, use with adequate ventilation, or avoid inhaling.

OPTING OUT: REDUCING JUNK MAIL, SPAM, AND TELEMARKETING CALLS

Mailing Lists
To reduce unwanted mail, sign up with the free Mail Preference Service, a free service operated by the Direct Marketing Association (DMA), www.dmaconsumers.org. They will instruct their members to remove your name from their lists, and within a few months the advertising mail you receive should decrease. Please note that MPS will not affect most mail addressed only to "RESIDENT" or "OCCUPANT", advertisements from local companies, or mail from companies with which you already do business. To be removed from these lists you will have to contact the company directly.

To remove your address from mail solicitation lists, send a short letter that includes your name, address, city, state, zip code and your signature to:

Mail Preference Service Direct Marketing Association
P.O. Box 643
Carmel, NY 10512

Once you are registered, your name will remain on the list for five years. You may re-register after that time.

Pre-Approved Credit Offers
Since 1997, the major credit reporting companies have offered an "opt-out" program available to anyone who wants to remove their name from mailing lists for pre-approved offers of credit. You can contact the credit reporting companies – TransUnion, Equifax, and Experian – or call (888) 567-8688. You will be given the choice to opt out for two years or permanently. If you choose the latter, you will be mailed a Notice of Election to opt out permanently, which you must sign and return to activate your permanent opt out.

Do Not Call Lists
To have your phone number placed on the Pennsylvania "Do Not Call" list, call (888) 777-3406, or go to the website at www.nocallsplease.com. The site will explain enrollment and enforcement.

The Federal Trade Commission requires that telemarketers honor “Do Not Call” requests for ten years.

Financial penalties for telemarketers who violate these requests can range up to $10,000.

Unsolicited E-Mail
The Direct Marketing Association recently launched a new E-Mail Preference Service to help reduce unsolicited commercial e-mails, or "spam".

To opt out of receiving unsolicited commercial e-mail, use the DMA's online registration form at www.e-mps.org. Your request will remain in effect for one year.

The Pennsylvania Attorney General has established a website to educate consumers and to assist them in reporting possible violations of this new law: http://spam.attorneygeneral.gov

They have also developed special complaint forms to report "junk" e-mail messages and unwanted faxes.

LOCAL THEATER GROUPS/CIVIC ORGANIZATIONS

There are civic groups, clubs, churches, schools, theater groups and organizations that appreciate the extra paint and/or building supplies that can help create sets. Contact your local group or organization. Donations of theater, office, and other equipment are also sometimes welcome. Please call for an items accepted list, before dropping donations off.
